

REVEREND

ANTOINETTE LOUISA BROWN BLACKWELL

as Portrayed by Carol Crawford Rowe

“What does the Lord require of thee Oh man? But to do justice, love mercy and walk humbly with your God.”

Carol Crawford Rowe, of Mannington WV , portrays the Reverend ANTOINETTE LOUISA BROWN BLACKWELL of the Professional Woman Speakers Bureau and Co-Founder of Rowe – Reynolds Counseling and Therapeutic Services.

Carol enjoys the study and portrayal of early women activists and of the American Civil War and the role of women during this period of our nation’s history.

Women established their value in many roles initially ascribed to men both before and during the War Between the States. Involved in such movements as the Temperance Movement, the Suffrage Movement, the Abolitionist Movement and the Women’s Rights Conventions, women like Brown, joined by men such as William Lloyd Garrison, Frederick Douglass, and others, were finally able to have their voices heard.

Carol C. Rowe holds a BS, a Master of Divinity from Wesley Theological Seminary Washington, D. C., and a Master of Arts in Counseling. Carol is a Registered Nurse and has served as a Psychiatric Nurse, Elder Care Supervisor and Educator. She has served with the Bedford/Fulton County Head Start Program in PA, as the Health Coordinator, and has been a Hospice Counselor.

Carol is a minister with the United Methodist Church and has served in pastoral ministry, with a special emphasis on market place ministry. She is a member Reverend Carol Crawford Rowe is available to share her experiences and knowledge of American History during the Civil War through living history presentations, lectures and workshops. She also conducts Workshops and Seminars directly relating to today’s families, women’s and mental health issues. She brings her unique blend of education and experience, coupled with an empathetic spirit to her workshops, seminars, and personal encounters.

A Reflection on God’s Direction

Sometimes God does not tell us what to do, because we are already doing it. Biblically, God does not appear to people with the encouragement to keep on with where they are and keep doing what they are doing . God arranges the appearance of his messengers to tell his people to get up and move on. It’s time for a change. Go here. Do this. Say that.

Those messages come when God desires a change in us, for a purpose that we may or may not understand. When we are praying for a sign, looking for a direction, listening for a word, and all is still, perhaps it is because there is no need at that moment for a change.

Do justice. Love mercy. Walk humbly with God. He has already showed us what to do. The where is where we already are. The time is now.
