

JANE CUNNINGHAM CROLY

as Portrayed by Abigail Elizabeth Reynolds

Abigail Elizabeth Reynolds, of Mannington WV portrays a reporter for the New York World. Her personage is based on the life and tales of Jane Cunningham Croly who was a reporter for the New York World and eventually became an editor with the paper.

Women established their value in many roles initially ascribed to men during the War Between the States. As more and more men were called to duty, leaving the home front, women naturally accepted the responsibilities to care for the community and to provide for all functions that required tending.

Dr. Reynolds holds a PhD in Religion, a Master of Divinity and a Master of Arts in Counseling

Dr. Reynolds served with the US Air Force in Washington, D.C. and Oslo, Norway, the Boy Scouts of America as a District Executive and NY Life Insurance as a Field Representative. She is an ordained minister with the United Methodist Church and has served in pastoral ministry with an emphasis on church growth and development.

Dr. Reynolds is a therapist and behavioral consultant, and has served as a Care Manager for the University of Pittsburg Medical Center. She has also served as a Flight Attendant Trainer with a major US carrier, as an on-air personality with an east coast FM station, and has held numerous leadership positions in civic, social, and professional organizations. Abigail is a member of the Professional Woman Speakers Bureau and Co-Founder of Rowe – Reynolds Counseling and Therapeutic Services.

Dr. Reynolds enjoys the study and portrayal of the American Civil War and the role of women during this period of our nation's history.

Dr. Reynolds is available to share her experiences and knowledge of American History during the Civil War through living history presentations, lectures and workshops.

She also conducts workshops directly relating to today's families, women's and mental health issues. Dr. Reynolds brings her unique perspective, humor, and practical experience to her workshops and seminars.
